

My Chinese Study Plan

My situation right now

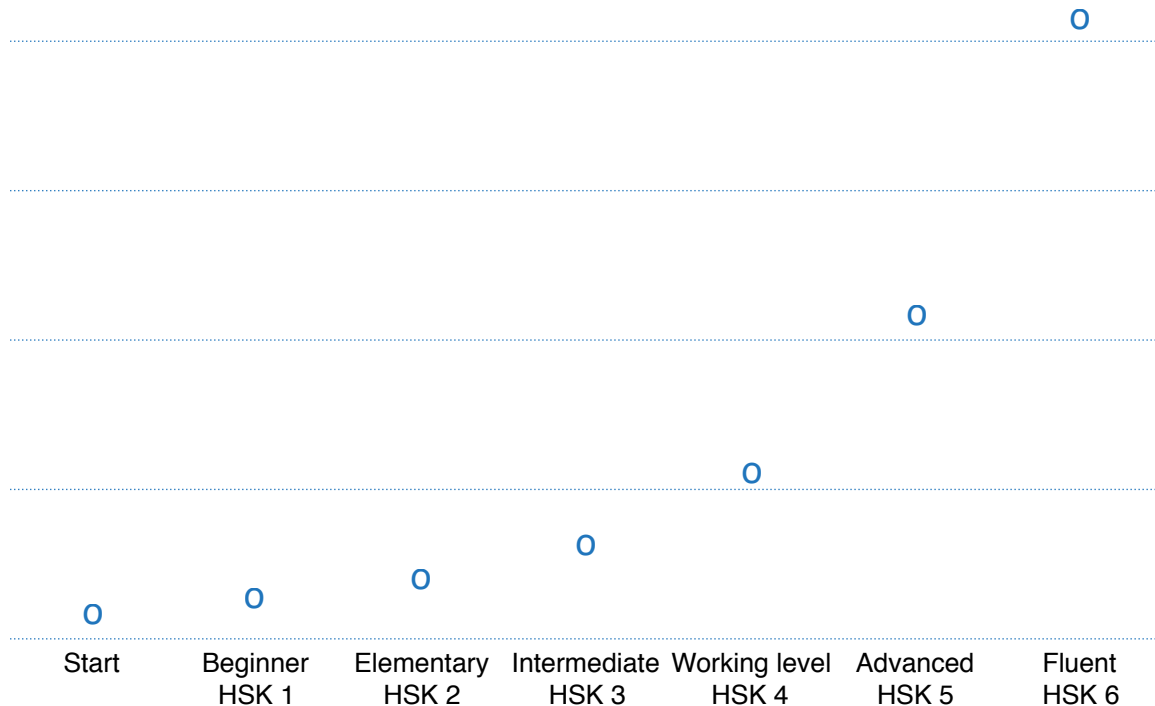

Regarding learning Chinese, at the moment I am _____

My current level and the level I want to achieve

If you have already been studying Chinese, draw the line from Start to your current level. Mark your goal as well!

Dream big, this is the level you want to achieve in your ideal situation. Don't play it small.

To know more about the levels please check the HSK introduction PDF.

My goal

When I reach my goal I feel _____

I can use Chinese _____

My plan

In order to reach my goal I need to _____

Possible difficulties might include _____

In order to overcome these difficulties I will _____

I will study Chinese _____ hours per day , _____ hours per week.

My most efficient time of the day to study is _____

Study methods and resources

I prefer to study on my own / with a private tutor / in a group. (Circle)

That's because _____

The resources I need to reach my goal are:

- A good textbook series at my level
- Audio lessons
- Online study group of likeminded students
- Online course I can study at my own time
- Online lessons with a teacher I can have anywhere in the world
- Private lessons face to face with a teacher
- Group courses with a motivating group face to face
- Mock tests for HSK
- Other: _____

Achieving the goal

I know I have achieved my goal when _____

Date

Signature